

Our new comic Blood & Valour is going from strength to strength in the run up to it' release in March.

Blood & Valour is a medieval fantasy novel re-telling the legends of Sir Bevis of Hampton in comic book form. The tales of Bevis were said to be much loved by the young King Henry V and are said to have been an inspiration to him as he crossed the Channel to France en-route to the Battle of Agincourt.

Keep up to date with the comic's progress in our regular roundup of news borrowed from the official website. Read on to find out what's been happening behind the scenes...

Heroes & Villains: Photoshoot #2

Lynn Forest-Hill Guest Blog: The Adaptable Hero

Video: Behind The Voyage (Episode 2)

Bumper Post: FCTC Series